Spilsby Playgroup is committed to Safeguarding and encourages a strong culture of vigilance in this area.

This document forms part of the integrated safeguarding portfolio and should be read alongside:

- Managing Allegations Against Adults; (Playgroup Policy)
- FGM Policy (Playgroup Policy)
- Prevent Policy (Playgroup Policy)
- Online Safety and Acceptable Use Policy (Playgroup Policy)
- DfE Keeping Children Safe in Education – September 2022;

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children refers to the process of protecting children from maltreatment, preventing the impairment of health or development, ensuring that children grow up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care and taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes.

Child protection refers to the processes undertaken to protect children who have been identified as suffering, or being at risk of suffering significant harm.

Staff refers to all those working for or on behalf of the Playgroup, full time or part time, temporary or permanent, in either a paid or voluntary capacity.

DSL refers to the designated safeguarding lead at the Playgroup.

Child includes everyone under the age of 18.

Parent refers to birth parents and other adults who are in a parenting role, for example step-parents, foster carers and adoptive parents.

Children who may be particularly vulnerable

Some children may have an increased risk of abuse. Many factors can contribute to an increase in risk, including prejudice and discrimination, isolation, social exclusion, communication issues and reluctance on the part of some adults to accept that abuse can occur. To ensure that all of our children receive equal protection, we will give special consideration to children who are:

- disabled or have special educational needs
- young carers
- affected by parental substance misuse, domestic violence or parental mental health needs
- asylum seekers
- living away from home
- vulnerable to being bullied, or engaging in bullying
- living in temporary accommodation
- living transient lifestyles
- living in chaotic and unsupportive home situations
- vulnerable to discrimination and maltreatment on the grounds of race, ethnicity, religion, disability or sexuality
- at risk of sexual exploitation

- do not have English as a first language
- at risk of female genital mutilation (FGM)
- at risk of forced marriage
- at risk of being drawn into extremism.

This list provides examples of additionally vulnerable groups and is not exhaustive. Special consideration includes the provision of safeguarding information and resources in community languages and accessible formats for children with communication needs.

Children with special educational needs or disabilities

The Spilsby Playgroup recognises that children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities can face additional safeguarding challenges. Additional barriers can exist when recognising abuse and neglect such as:

- assumptions that indicators of possible abuse such as behaviour, mood and injury relate to the child's disability without further exploration;
- the potential for children with SEN and disabilities being disproportionately impacted by behaviours such as bullying, without outwardly showing any signs; and
- communication barriers and difficulties in overcoming these barriers.

Allegations against staff or volunteers

If an allegation is made against a member of staff, our set procedures must be followed. The full procedures for dealing with allegations against staff can be found in the Playgroup's 'Managing Allegations Against Adults' Policy.

Staff training

It is important that all staff receive training to enable them to recognise the possible signs of abuse, neglect and exploitation and to know what to do if they have a concern.

All staff will undertake training each September covering as a minimum:

- Signs and symptoms of abuse and neglect (including online safety)
- Local procedures for responding to concerns
- The Playgroup's behaviour policy
- Response to children that go missing in early education
- The staff code of conduct
- Allegations management

The level of additional training staff will receive is based on their role and time within the setting. More information on this can be found within the Lincolnshire Children's Safeguarding Board (LCSB) 6 year training pathway.

Safer recruitment

Our Playgroup complies with the requirements of Keeping Children Safe in Education (DfE 2018) and the LCSB by carrying out the required checks and verifying the applicant's identity, qualifications and work history.

- At least one member of each recruitment panel will have completed safer recruitment training within the last 2 years.
- All relevant staff are made aware of the disqualification and disqualification by association legislation and their obligations to disclose relevant information.
- Trainees will be checked either by the Playgroup or by the training provider, from whom written confirmation will be obtained.
- The Playgroup maintains a single central record of recruitment checks undertaken.

Volunteers

All volunteers working with the Playgroup will be risk assessed and will undergo checks prior to their work and contact with children in the Playgroup.

Under no circumstances will a volunteer who has not been appropriately checked be left unsupervised.

Contractors

Playgroup checks the identity of all contractors working on site and requests DBS with barred list checks where required by statutory guidance. Contractors who have not undergone checks will not be allowed to work unsupervised whilst children are on-site.

Contractors, whilst children on site, must inform a member of staff each and every time they leave through a door/gate which could compromise site security.

Playgroup staff need to have increased awareness and vigilance if and when contractors are on site.

Site security

- Whilst children are on site, visitors to the playgroup, including contractors, are asked to sign in within the playgroup visitors book and will be given a badge to show they have permission to be on site.
- The manager will inform the contractor of the need to inform a member of staff each and every time they need to vacate the site so as door security can be maintained.
- All visitors are expected to observe the Playgroup's safeguarding and health and safety regulations.
- The Manager will exercise professional judgement in determining whether any visitor should be escorted or supervised while on site.
- Parents who are simply delivering or collecting their children do not need to sign in.

Extended school and off-site arrangements

Off-site activities are subject to a risk assessment to satisfy health and safety and safeguarding requirements

Teaching our children about safeguarding

Spilsby Playgroup recognises the importance of all children being aware of how to keep themselves safe.

To support our children, our curriculum is designed and planned to pass on safety messages in an age appropriate manner, using a range of resources, throughout each academic year. The curriculum supports children in developing an awareness of risk and how to reduce this risk. Children are also provided with the knowledge of where/who/how to gain help and support if they find themselves in an unsafe situation.

Spilsby Playgroup works in partnership with outside agencies to help provide this awareness. Agencies include; Police, NSPCC, O2, Lifeguards, RNLI, Ambulance Services, Fire Services and LCC.

Examples of topics covered through our curriculum include: Road Safety, Stranger Awareness, Online Safety, Fire Safety, Water Safety, Personal Safety and forms of abuse (age appropriate).

The above list is not exhaustive. Adults within our playgroup will be alert to these and other potential risks, teaching children to recognise, understand, cope with and develop resilience to the risks and issues they may face.

Child Protection Procedures

Recognising abuse

To ensure that our children are protected from harm, we need to understand what types of behaviour constitute abuse and neglect.

Abuse and neglect are forms of maltreatment. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, for example by hitting them, or by failing to act to prevent harm, for example by leaving a small child home alone.

Abuse may be committed by adult men or women and by other children and young people.

Keeping Children Safe in Education (DfE 2022) refers to four categories of abuse. These are set out at Appendix One along with indicators of abuse.

Taking action

Any child, in any family in any school could become a victim of abuse. Staff should always maintain an attitude of "it could happen here". Key points for staff to remember for taking action are:

- in an emergency take the action necessary to help the child, if necessary call 999
- report your concern as soon as possible to the DSL, definitely by the end of the day
- do not start your own investigation
- share information on a need-to-know basis only – do not discuss the issue with colleagues, friends or family
- complete a record of concern
- seek support for yourself if you are distressed.

If you are concerned about a child's welfare

There will be occasions when staff may suspect that a child may be at risk. The child's behaviour may have changed, their artwork could be bizarre and may reveal confusion or distress, or physical signs may have been noticed. In these circumstances, staff will try to give the child the opportunity to talk and ask if they are OK or if they can help in any way.

Staff should use the welfare concern form to record these early concerns. If the child does reveal that they are being harmed, staff should follow the advice below. Following an initial conversation with the child, if the member of staff has concerns, they should discuss their concerns with the DSL.

If a child discloses to you

It takes a lot of courage for a child to disclose that they are being abused. They may feel ashamed, particularly if the abuse is sexual; their abuser may have threatened what will happen if they tell; they may have lost all trust in adults; or they may believe, or have been told, that the abuse is their own fault. Sometimes they may not be aware that what is happening is abusive.

If a child talks to a member of staff about any risks to their safety or wellbeing, the staff member will, at the appropriate time, let the child know that in order to help them they must pass the information on to the DSL. During their conversations with the children staff will:

- allow them to speak freely
- remain calm and not overreact
- give reassuring nods or words of comfort – 'I'm so sorry this has happened', 'I want to help', 'This isn't your fault', 'You are doing the right thing in talking to me'
- not be afraid of silences
- under no circumstances ask investigative questions – such as how many times this has happened, whether it happens to siblings, or what does the child's mother think about it
- not automatically offer any physical touch as comfort
- avoid admonishing the child for not disclosing earlier. Saying things such as 'I do wish you had told me about this when it started' may be interpreted by the child to mean that they have done something wrong
- report verbally to the DSL
- complete the record of concern form and hand it to the DSL as soon as possible
- seek support if they feel distressed.

Notifying parents

The Playgroup will normally seek to discuss any concerns about a child with their parents. This must be handled sensitively and the DSL will make contact with the parent in the event of a concern, suspicion or disclosure.

Our focus is the safety and wellbeing of the child. Therefore, if the Playgroup believes that notifying parents could increase the risk to the child or exacerbate the problem, advice will first be sought from children's social care and/or the police before parents are contacted.

Confidentiality and sharing information

All staff will understand that child protection issues warrant a high level of confidentiality, not only out of respect for the child and staff involved but also to ensure that information being released into the public domain does not compromise evidence.

Staff should only discuss concerns with the DSL (or Deputy in their absence). That person will then decide who else needs to have the information and they will disseminate it on a 'need-to-know' basis.

However, following a number of cases nationally where senior leaders had failed to act upon concerns raised by staff, Keeping Children Safe in Education (2018) emphasises that any member of staff can contact children's social care if they are concerned about a child.

Child protection information will be stored and handled in line with the GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018.

Information sharing is guided by the following principles. The information is:

- necessary and proportionate
- relevant
- adequate
- accurate
- timely
- secure.

Information sharing decisions will be recorded, whether or not the decision is taken to share.

Child protection information will be stored separately from the child's pastoral file within CPOMS.

The DSL will normally obtain consent from the child and/or parents to share sensitive information within the Playgroup or with outside agencies. Where there is good reason to do so, the DSL may share information without consent, and will record the reason for not obtaining consent.

Child protection records are normally exempt from the disclosure provisions of the Data Protection Act, which means that children and parents do not have an automatic right to see them. If any member of staff receives a request from a child or parent to see child protection records, they will refer the request to the Manager to consider in line with the Data Policies.

The Data Protection Act does not prevent Playgroup staff from sharing information with relevant agencies, where that information may help to protect a child.

Early Help

If a child / family is identified to us as needing additional support, an Early Help Assessment will be completed with the family and together support and next steps will be identified, addressed and future meetings will be held. Support could be in the form of a Single Agency, Team Around the Child (TAC), ESCO for children with Special Educational Need, referred to Lincolnshire Children's Services potentially leading to Child in Need Meetings taking place. In certain cases LCC will consider initiating Child Protection meetings. In all cases meetings are held with parents ensuring that parents/guardians are fully informed at all stages. The child too may attend the meetings if appropriate. In all cases the child's voice is sought and is shared during any meetings

Referral to children's social care

The DSL will make a referral to children's social care if it is believed that a child is suffering or is at risk of suffering significant harm. The child (subject to their age and understanding) and the parents will be told that a referral is being made, unless to do so would increase the risk to the child.

Any member of staff may make a direct referral to children's social care if they genuinely believe independent action is necessary to protect a child.

Reporting directly to child protection agencies

Staff should follow the reporting procedures outlined in this policy. However, they may also share information directly with children's social care, police or the NSPCC if:

- the situation is an emergency and the designated safeguarding lead, their deputy, the Manager and the Trust Safeguarding Manager are all unavailable
- they are convinced that a direct report is the only way to ensure the child's safety
- for any other reason they make a judgement that direct referral is in the best interests of the child.

Escalating concerns

Staff need to be aware of those times when concerns may look as though they are not progressing to an outcome or some form of action. This may be indicated by:

- difficulty in getting hold of a DSL;
- staff not being satisfied about the decision of the DSL or Manager;
- staff aware that a colleague has not passed on a concern;
- external agencies not accepting a referral from Playgroup when it is felt one is needed;
- staff not aware of what has happened to their concern because of a lack of feedback.

It is important that staff do not close down a concern because they feel "stuck" or "they can't do anymore". It is important to escalate concerns to DSLs, Managers / Owner.

If there are concerns about the work of an external agency the Playgroup will follow the escalation steps outlined in the locally agreed procedures documents.

The important principle is not to allow a concern to be "closed down" without it having received the necessary attention, assessment and resolution.

If the options above have been explored fully and the concern still isn't being handled effectively and therefore placing the child or young person at risk, it is important that you continue to escalate your concerns by contacting the Owner or NSPCC Whistleblowing Advice Line on 0800 028 0285.

Specific Safeguarding and Child Protection Issues

Children with sexually harmful behaviour

Children may be harmed by other children or young people. Staff will be aware of the harm caused by bullying and will use the Playgroup's anti-bullying procedures where necessary. However, there will be occasions when a child's behaviour warrants a response under child protection rather than anti-bullying procedures.

Young people who display such behaviour may be victims of abuse themselves and the child protection procedures will be followed for both victim and perpetrator. Staff who become concerned about a child's sexual behaviour, should speak to the DSL as soon as possible.

Children missing early education

Attendance, absences are monitored. A child going missing from early education, even though below statutory school age is a potential indicator of abuse and neglect, including sexual abuse and sexual exploitation.

The Playgroup will monitor absence. If a child has an unexplained absence, we will contact the parent to ensure all is well. We will establish a return date. If the date passes, we will contact the parent again. Potentially, At this point a referral or advice will be sought from children's services. We are aware that at this early age playgroup could complete another piece of an ongoing jigsaw for a vulnerable family. Where children go missing on repeated occasions and/or are missing for periods during the playgroup day this will also result in a referral to children's services.

Staff must be alert to signs of children at risk of travelling to conflict zones, female genital mutilation and forced marriage. See FGM policy.

Peer-on-Peer abuse, sexual violence and harassment

The Playgroup recognises that children may become victims of abuse from other children.

This is most likely to include, but may not be limited to, bullying (gender based violence/sexual assaults).

Staff will report instances of peer-on-peer abuse, sexual violence and harassment through the normal safeguarding concern process and recognise that support must be provided to both the alleged victim and abuser.

Children and the court system

Children are sometimes required to give evidence in criminal courts, either for crimes committed against them or for crimes they have witnessed. The families of children may also be subject to child arrangements processes through the family court system.

We recognise that both circumstances may be stressful for children and appropriate support will be provided in line with local and national guidance.

Sexual exploitation of children

Sexual exploitation involves an individual or group of adults taking advantage of the vulnerability of an individual or groups of children or young people, and victims can be boys or girls. Children and young people are often unwittingly drawn into sexual exploitation through the offer of friendship and care, gifts, drugs and alcohol, and sometimes accommodation. Sexual exploitation is a serious crime and can have a long-lasting adverse impact on a child's physical and emotional health. It may also be linked to child trafficking.

The Playgroup includes the risks of sexual exploitation in the PSHE curriculum. A common feature of sexual exploitation is that the child often doesn't recognise the coercive nature of the relationship and doesn't see themselves as a victim. The child may initially resent what they perceive as interference by staff, but staff must act on their concerns, as they would for any other type of abuse.

All staff are made aware of the indicators of sexual exploitation and all concerns are reported immediately to the DSL.

Honour-Based Violence

'Honour-based' violence (HBV) encompasses crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), forced marriage, and practices such as breast ironing. All forms of HBV are abuse.

FGM is the collective name given to a range of procedures involving the partial or total removal of external female genitalia for non-medical reasons. In England, Wales and Northern Ireland, the practice is a criminal offence under the Female Genital Mutilation Act 2003. The practice can cause intense pain and distress and long-term health consequences, including difficulties in childbirth.

FGM is carried out on girls of any age, from young babies to older teenagers and adult women, so Playgroup staff are trained to be aware of risk indicators. Many such procedures are carried out abroad and staff should be particularly alert to suspicions or concerns expressed by a female child about going on a long holiday during the summer vacation period.

Staff must personally report to the police cases where they discover that an act of FGM appears to have been carried out. This should be done with the support of the DSL so that wider concerns for the child or young person are also considered. This will also enable the Playgroup to support the staff member through this process.

A forced marriage is a marriage in which a female (and sometimes a male) does not consent to the marriage but is coerced into it. Coercion may include physical, psychological, financial, sexual and emotional pressure. It may also involve physical or sexual violence and abuse. In England and Wales the practice is a criminal offence under the Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014.

A forced marriage is not the same as an arranged marriage. In an arranged marriage, which is common in several cultures, the families of both spouses take a leading role in arranging the marriage but the choice of whether or not to accept the arrangement remains with the prospective spouses.

Children may be married at a very young age, and well below the age of consent in England. Playgroup staff receive training and should be particularly alert to suspicions or concerns raised by a child about them or a sibling being taken abroad and not being allowed to return to England.

Radicalisation and Extremism

The government defines extremism as vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs.

Some children are at risk of being radicalised: adopting beliefs and engaging in activities which are harmful, criminal or dangerous. Islamic extremism is the most widely publicised form and settings should also remain alert to the risk of radicalisation into white supremacy extremism.

Playgroup staff receive training to help to identify signs of extremism. Opportunities are provided in the curriculum to enable children to discuss issues of religion, ethnicity and culture and the Playgroup follows the DfE advice Promoting fundamental British Values as part of SMSC (spiritual, moral, social and cultural education) in Schools (2014). See the full Prevent Duty Policy.

Private fostering arrangements

A private fostering arrangement occurs when someone other than a parent or a close relative cares for a child for a period of 28 days or more, with the agreement of the child's parents. It applies to children under the age of 16, or aged under 18 if the child is disabled. By law, a parent, private foster carer or other persons involved in making a private fostering arrangement must notify children's services as soon as possible.

Where a member of staff becomes aware that a child may be in a private fostering arrangement they will raise this with the DSL and the Playgroup should notify the Local Authority of the circumstances.

Looked after children

The most common reason for children becoming looked after is as a result of abuse or neglect. The Playgroup ensures that staff have the necessary skills and understanding to keep looked after children safe. Appropriate staff have information about a child's looked after legal status and care arrangements, including the level of authority delegated to the carer by the authority looking after the child. The designated teacher for looked after children and the DSL have details of the child's social worker and the name and contact details of the Local Authority's virtual head for children in care.

Work experience

The Playgroup has detailed procedures to safeguard children undertaking work experience, including arrangements for checking people who provide placements and supervise children on work experience which are in accordance with the guidance in Keeping Children Safe in Education (2018).

Children with family members in prison

Children who have family members that are sent to prison are at risk of poor outcomes including poverty, stigma, isolation and poor mental health. The Playgroup recognises that these children may need support. Support will be provided in line with guidance from the National Information Centre on Children of Offenders and local agencies.

Criminal exploitation of children (County Lines)

County lines is the police term for urban gangs supplying drugs to suburban areas and market and coastal towns using dedicated mobile phone lines or “deal lines”.

It involves child criminal exploitation as gangs use children and vulnerable people to move drugs and money. Gangs establish a base in the market location, typically by taking over the homes of local vulnerable adults by force or coercion in a practice referred to as ‘cuckooing’.

County lines activity and the associated violence, drug dealing and exploitation has a devastating impact on young people, vulnerable adults and local communities.

Playgroup staff are vigilant to those children and concerns will be shared with the DSL.

Domestic abuse

Exposure to domestic abuse and/or violence can have a serious, long lasting emotional and psychological impact on children. In some cases, a child may blame themselves for the abuse or may have had to leave the family home as a result.

Homelessness

Being homeless, or being at risk of becoming homeless, presents a real risk to a child’s welfare.

The DSL will be able to support children and their families facing homelessness through support from appropriate agencies and support networks within the locality. LCC Housing Dept. Citizens Advice

Appendix One

Four categories of abuse

Physical abuse

Physical abuse is a form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child (this used to be called Munchausen's Syndrome by Proxy, but is now more usually referred to as fabricated or induced illness).

Emotional abuse

Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyber bullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, although it may occur alone.

Sexual abuse

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Neglect

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment);
- protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger;
- ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers); or
- ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

Indicators of abuse

Physical signs define some types of abuse, for example, bruising, bleeding or broken bones resulting from physical or sexual abuse, or injuries sustained while a child has been inadequately supervised. The identification of physical signs is complicated, as children may go to great lengths to hide injuries, often because they are ashamed or embarrassed, or their abuser has threatened further violence or trauma if they 'tell'. It is also quite difficult for anyone without medical training to categorise injuries into accidental or deliberate with any degree of certainty. For these reasons it is vital that staff are also aware of the range of behavioural indicators of abuse and report any concerns to the designated safeguarding lead.

It is the responsibility of staff to report their concerns. It is not their responsibility to investigate or decide whether a child has been abused.

A child who is being abused, neglected or exploited may:

- have bruises, bleeding, burns, fractures or other injuries
- show signs of pain or discomfort
- keep arms and legs covered, even in warm weather
- be concerned about changing their clothing
- look unkempt and uncared for
- change their eating habits
- have difficulty in making or sustaining friendships
- appear fearful
- be reckless with regard to their own or other's safety
- self-harm
- frequently miss playgroup sessions
- show signs of not wanting to go home
- display a change in behaviour – from quiet to aggressive, or happy-go-lucky to withdrawn
- challenge authority
- become disinterested in their play
- be constantly tired or preoccupied
- be wary of physical contact
- be involved in, or particularly knowledgeable about drugs or alcohol
- display sexual knowledge or behaviour beyond that normally expected for their age
- acquire gifts such as money or a mobile phone from new 'friends'.

Individual indicators will rarely, in isolation, provide conclusive evidence of abuse. They should be viewed as part of a jigsaw, and each small piece of information will help the DSL to decide how to proceed.

Appendix Two – Concerns Flowchart
